PRICE, FIVE CENTS

Mortgage Prepayment Denied to Borough

Trust Company Won't Accept $1600 Until Due Date

EXONERATIONS GRANTED

The Borough of Narberth is considered a good mortgagee. So good, in fact, that the Girard Trust Company will not accept a mortgage prepayment on the borough's recently acquired premises at 102 Conway avenue. In a letter received by Borough Solicitor Henry A. Frye and read before the September Council meeting the trust company replied that it would not accept payment of the mortgage, $1600, until its due date, November 4, 1938. The company receives $96 annual interest.

Exonerations Granted

Tax Collector Edwin P. Dold reported collections of $4683.96 on the 1936 tax duplicate, leaving a balance of $70,289. Payments are being made regularly. Exonerations were granted Mr. Dold in the amount of $931.40. These were on tax bills mailed to 560 residents, including 400 who have moved, 100 duplications, 14 deceased persons, 5 invalids, 18 dependents, 2 minors, 4 who pay elsewhere, 5 United States Government employees and 11 cases of errata.

The fuel-oil contract for the Narberth Firehouse was given to the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania.

Tom Elwood Wins Reader's Digest Contest Covering American Scene

Tom Elwood is the winner of first prize in The Reader's Digest contest for articles on the American scene. With the honor came a check for $1000.

His article, "Revolt in the Lie-Lands," having to do with publicity demands made upon community newspapers, was one of ten awarded first prizes out of more than 43,000 entries.

Elwood is managing editor of News of Bala-Cynwyd and advertising manager of Our Town, Narberth's civic weekly. His home is at 300 Grayling avenue, Narberth.

Born Thomas Arthur Elwood thirty-two years ago in Philadelphia, he spent the early part of his life in Atlantic City, where his parents now live.

While attending the University of Pennsylvania he joined the Livingston Publishing Company in 1924 as bookkeeper. He is a committee chairman and former director of the Neighborhood Club of Bala-Cynwyd, a director of the Narberth Business Council and member of the choir of All Saints' Church, Wynnewood.

In 1928 he married Edith E. Maguire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Maguire, of Narberth, to whom were born two children, Phyllis, now 6, and Tommy, 4. Mrs. Elwood died last February.

The award was Tom's first remuneration in twelve years of effort to break into the free lance field.

Dog Quarantine Cost L. M. $5023; Narberth $271

The net cost of the recent dog quarantine in Lower Merion was $5,023.73, which included about $2,000 of capital expense in equipping the dog pound. Narberth's quarantine cost was $271.25 net.

These figures were brought out in the report of John H. Jefferies, Jr., quarantine chairman for the township commissioners at their September meeting.

The joint cost was pro-rated on the number of dogs seized, there being 40 taken in the borough and 486 in the township. Certain credits on advertising and equipment were also allowed to Narberth.

Of the 526 dogs seized less than half were claimed, Mr. Jefferies said. He recommended frequent pickups of strays, under advertisement of "dog days," after the Board of Health's supervision.

Township receipts for the quarantine were $753, Narberth's $55. Township and borough fines amounting to $285 were remitted to the commonwealth.

A campaign to increase the membership of the Narberth Players to a 300 limit was launched Tuesday night at the first fall meeting of the organization at the Narberth School Auditorium. Last year's membership was 208.

Other features planned for the season include a play-writing contest for members and a play-selecting contest for directors. For the membership campaign three team captains have been chosen, B. G. Simpson, William H. Muller and Philip Pitcher. At the end of the month the team having secured the most new members will provide the entertainment for the October meeting. The losing team will supply the refreshments.

The next meeting will be October 13 and the first play will be given October 23 and 24.

Two impromptu plays were given. Among the actors were Miss Natalie Fleck, George Werner, Cecile Link, Walter Sawyer, Jean Satow, Elmer Hackman, Paul Goodyear, Grace Werner, Joseph Hongler, Faith Farmer and Roland Fleer.

A tap dance was given by Betty Jane McCrea, accompanied by Margaret Squier.

Ardmore Man Slated for Board of Health

Dr. William P. Belk to Become New Member: Was Surgeon in War

Dr. William P. Belk was slated to become a member of the Lower Merion Board of Health at its September meeting. He will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Alexander Rae Evans last spring.

Dr. Belk, Main Line practitioner for fifteen years, is a member of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School faculty and consulting pathologist at Bryn Mawr Hospital. He was a surgeon overseas with the Seventeenth Field Artillery during the war.

Miss Blanche Meeser, of Woodbine avenue, Penn Valley, was sworn in for another five-year term as a member.

Health Officer Marvin E. Reynolds reported there were only eleven new cases of contagious disease during August. Mr. Reynolds also reported that a spring in Gladwyne had been placarded warning persons using the water to boil it following the unsatisfactory test of a sample.

A "circus" will be held by the "Friendship Circle" Bible Class at the Methodist Church, Narberth, this Friday, at 6.30 o'clock.

Features will include band music, magic, fish pond and cats. Children who come with parents will be admitted free.

Mrs. May Eakin, of Narberth, is a member of the September Grand Jury considering cases this week prior to the opening of the Criminal Court term at Norristown Monday.

Davismen and Coates Each Win Contest by One-Run Margin

WINNER VS. BROOKLINE

By JOHN MULLIGAN

Whether Narberth's baseball club will earn the right to meet Brookline in the Main Line League Little World Series will be decided tomorrow afternoon.

Gene Davis' tossers will tangle with Coatesville at the community field in the third fray of the three-game series to decide the second-half championship. A playoff became necessary when both completed the season with thirteen victories and one defeat.

What probably will be the largest crowd to storm our field in many years is expected. No series, and that goes for the titular brand, has stirred the fans into the heat that this one has. Anyone who witnessed the hectic double bill staged last week-end will vouch for that.

John Phan was treated to some of the most erratic, yet sensational, ball seen in the league at any time when the Coates nosed out Narberth in eleven innings by a 11-10 score at Central Park, Coatesville, Saturday. To do so it was necessary for Manager "Perk" Richards' aggregation to wipe out a four-run deficit which the Da-

Bala-Cyn-Narberth Host to Rotarians

144 Clubmen Attend Annual Outing at Overbrook Golf Club

Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotarians were hosts to fellow clubmen from nine other Montgomery County units at Tuesday's meeting in the Overbrook Golf Club. A total of 144 Rotarians were present.

In the afternoon golf, quoits and tennis were enjoyed, with a dinner in the evening.

Alexander J. Esrey, president of the host club, presided at the dinner, at which the principal speaker was John Dennis Mahoney, English instructor at Overbrook High School and humorist.

Short talks were given by the presidents of the various clubs attending. Members were present from the Ardmore, Pottstown, Norristown, Sellersville, North Wales, Conshohocken, Ambler, Schwenksville and Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Clubs.

Members of the host club walked off with the prizes in the athletic events.

First prize for golf was won by Dr. Romaine C. Hoffman, while Esrey captured second prize. Harvey C. Keim won first prize in tennis.

The North Wales Club took first place in attendance with 100 per cent of its members at the outing and thereby gained permanent possession of the cup, which it had won twice before.

Flowers used as table decorations at the dinner were ordered sent to Bryn Mawr Hospital.

J. Bedford Wooley was chairman of the committee of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Club in charge of the outing.

Narberth Enjoys Building Bulge During September

Building permits for work estimated to cost about $6000 have been issued this month by Building Inspector George B. Supplee, who left yesterday for his annual vacation at Ocean City, N. J.

Permits include six for renewing roofs on various borough residences and the following:

George E. Snyder, Jr., 203 Barrie road, addition, $2500; Maurice J. and Mary R. Lacey, 105 Rockland road, addition, $1045; Dr. Edward J. Gough, 125 Windsor avenue, alterations, $400; Mrs. C. J. Haywood, 5 Woodside avenue, one-car garage, $400; George A. McFadden, 1048 Montgomery avenue, one-car brick garage, $900; Miss Agnes B. Austin, 6 Narbrook Park, alteration, $75.

Last week's report on relief families showed an increase of one case each in both Lower Merion and Narberth. Totals, Narberth, 3; Lower Merion, 50.

Around Our Town

The bright September horizon seems to be dotted not only with signs of school and circuses, but also there seems to have sprung up a crop of practical jokers. Among the first group we find the story of a wag, identity unknown, who annoyed the motorists in general on Penn road, north of Aubrey road in Wynnewood, by stringing seven red lanterns across the road. Many a motorist fussed and fumed as he backed around before the Lower Merion police removed the unofficial "detour."

Practical joker No. 2 was George Morrow, 35, a watchman on the M. G. Curtis estate at Belmont and City Line avenues, Bala-Cynwyd, who amused himself the other night by flashing a light into parked cars and saying such annoying things as "What are you kids doing here? You ought to be home in bed, young lady." Morrow had indeed a jolly old time until he tried his little routine of flashlight, voice and reprimand on a car which happened to be occupied by Lieutenant George VanderVear and Sergeant William Wintz, of the Lower Merion police force. The joke was even less funny for Mr. Morrow when he was held in $1000 bail for court on the charge of impersonating an officer.

Narberth must have taken the cue from some of the new nation-wide contests that have sprung up in the last week or so, for in Davis' window we see a bean guessing contest which promises to be lots of fun, especially in view of the fine prize of a radio. We have looked at the jar from all angles, studied it scientifically, and are now on the trail of a book on higher mathematics that will tell us how to calculate the exact number by measuring the various dimensions of both jar and bean. We're thinking of looking up one of those smart fellows who invariably predict the election returns at least a year before they become actualities. If that fails, we'll resort to astrology.

As September sneaks all too speedily to a close, the young and the near-young begin to wend their ways back to the cloistered walls of school and college. Even this early we begin hearing reports of the good work various Narberthites are doing in school activities. Among our young athletes we point with pride to Gene Davis, Jr., who will be captain and end on the Episcopal Academy team this fall. Another Narberthite, Ray Keegan, is head coach. Harvey Cook, Jr., expects to play freshman football at Michigan State, which he entered this week. Harvey is rated as one of Lower Merion's best all-time catchers. He is the son of the Narberth Legion commander.

Maine Points the Way

Out of the cross-currents of Maine's involved politics come certain pertinent and tangible facts as revealed in the unofficial tabulation of the ballots cast in yesterday's election.

The one vital feature, so far as the country at large is concerned, is the unquestioned actuality that a State which two years ago elected two Democratic Congressmen out of three has replaced both of them with Republicans, re-elected its lone Republican member and piled up a combined plurality in the three districts of rising 54,000.

The Maine electorate at the same time has returned Wallace H. White, Jr., to the U. S. Senate by the narrow margin of some 5000 votes and elected Lewis O. Barrows, the Republican nominee for Governor, by more than 43,000.

The total vote was about 312,000—the largest ever cast in a Maine election.

The most accurate index of party division in Maine is found in the Republican margin piled up in the congressional districts because here personalities were a minimum influence and principles most effectively directed the pencils that marked the ballots.

In short, Maine went Republican Monday by rising 54,000.

Four years ago the voters elected Louis J. Brann Governor by 2,000 in September, with a turn-out of some 253,000, and followed this Democratic victory in November with a march of 295,000 to the polling places and handed Herbert Hoover a plurality of 37,000.

In view of the performance four years ago, it seems reasonable to conclude that the Republicans will sweep the State with an even greater plurality on November 3.

Coming Events

Bryn Mawr Horse Show at polo grounds, September 23-26

Delaware County's Better Homes Exposition, Center Building, Upper Darby, week of October 5.

Electrical Association of Philadelphia's ninth annual Electric and Radio Show, Convention Hall, October 5-10.

Auxiliary Holds Session

The Auxiliary of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, met Tuesday evening in the Legion room, Community Building.

Mrs. Frank A. Schrepfer, the president, gave a report on the State convention, which she attended as a delegate of the auxiliary.

Installation of officers will be held at the next meeting on October 20 in the Legion rooms.

Needlework Guild Sewing

Narberth's branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold its first monthly fall sewing, Wednesday in the Community Building.

All women of the community are urged to come out and sew or knit and to bring a box luncheon. Tea and coffee will be served.

Wynnewood House Moved

Wynnewoodians were treated this week to a house moving. A three-story stone-and-frame house, occupied until about a year ago by the late Charles Barker, was put on railroad ties and hauled inch by inch, starting Monday, from the north side of Montgomery pike at Owen road, along Owen and Hamilton roads to the east side of Wister road facing Hamilton.

Political Pot

Well, Maine went.

Big local political event this week is the annual Corn Boil of the Republican Association of Lower Merion and Narberth at the Gladwyne Community Hall on Saturday. Township Treasurer Peter C. Hess will be host, with all Republican voters, men and women, invited. Congressman J. William Ditter, Ambler, will speak, with other candidates expected to extemporize. The committee on arrangements includes: Grant Olewiler, O. E. Kline, John E. Baltz, Dr. F. P. K. Barker, Allen Smith, Elmer E. Baltz, George B. Nellings, Abe C. Swartz, Mrs. John Scull, Mrs. Harry Mosteller, Mrs. Charles Halberstadt, Mrs. Harry Halberstadt, Mrs. Walter B. Lowmes, Jr., Mrs. Grant Olewiler, Mrs. James Boyer, Mrs. John E. Baltz, Mrs. Elmer E. Baltz, Mrs. Roy Haley, Mrs. William Herbert, Jr., Mrs. George B. Nellings, Mrs. O. E. Kline, Mrs. Mary Hunter, Mrs. T. Creely, Mrs. Arthur Jamison, Mrs. Cecil Harvey, Mrs. Thomas Crouch, Mrs. Richard Crout, Miss Mable Baltz, Mrs. Joseph Harvey, Mrs. R. Nabli, Mrs. N. B. Smith, Mrs. S. Bell, Mrs. Harry David, Mrs. George Vander Veer.

Appearing somewhat surprised to learn he was a congressional candidate, but nevertheless thanking everyone connected with placing his name on the pre-empted "Constitutional Justice" ticket, Jonathan P. Edwards, Ardmore coal operator and registered Republican, withdrew from the contest Monday, final day for withdrawals. T. Duncan Just, former Pinchot leader, and John J. Perry, Norristown, defeated candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress, were backers of the Edwards' "candidacy." The congressional candidates are: Republican, J. William Ditter, Ambler; Democrat, George H. Bartholomew, Pottstown.

Miss Muriel White will pour at the tea of the Narberth Young Republicans Sunday at the home of Joseph White, 113 Essex avenue. Guy Mosteller is president of the borough club.

Montgomery County's Independent Coalition of American Women is holding membership and finance campaigns under the direction of Mrs. Robert P. Page, Jr., Merion Golf Manor, chairman. The Coalition is not a Republican organization, but is interested solely in electing Governor Landon and in defeating New Deal candidates, says Mrs. Page.

Ralph Gordon Pettit, Ardmore, is in charge of the Main Line Republican headquarters at Lancaster avenue near Church road, Ardmore. Registration in Montgomery County is: Republican, 108,444; Democrats, 34,481. In the first district: Republican, 23,611; Democrat, 6,437. Republicans gained 1,000 new voters; Democrats, 4,000. . . . In the first 100,000 votes of the Literary Digest poll, Landon is leading President Roosevelt nearly 2 to 1: Landon, 61,190; Roosevelt, 33,423; Lemke, 4,169.

Main Liners, who have given $5,000 apiece toward the Landon-Knox campaign are A. Atwater Kent, A. Atwater Kent, Jr., and J. H. Pew, Jr., Ardmore; J. Howard Pew, Haverford; Miss Ethel Pew and Mrs. Mabel Myron Pew, Bryn Mawr. Sales of the Republican "Dollar Certificates" last week reached 44,000 in Pennsylvania, of which 3,112 are Montgomery County contributions. The county's quota is 7,117. In 1932 only 940 Pennsylvania Republicans contributed to Hoover's campaign.

Delaware County's Democrats and some Independent Republicans are determined to unseat State Senator John J. McClure, Republican candidate for re-election. Monday night, C. Fenno Hoffman, Democratic candidate, withdrew in favor of Weldon B. Heyburn, who gave McClure a battle in the G. O. P. primaries. Hoffman, who lives in Radnor, will run for the legislature, thanks to the withdrawals of James A. Holm and Roman F. Adams.

Local Movies

"Poppy," "Mickey Mouse," "Green Pastures"—Narberth

"Poppy," hilariously funny W. C. Fields comedy, is at Narberth. And in celebration of Mickey Mouse's birthday the 1 P. M. matinee Saturday will also present a full hour of Walt Disney's Mickey Mouse cartoons and Silly Symphonies.

Monday and Tuesday, Marc Connelly's sensational five-year stage hit will be here. "Green Pastures" approaches with the same reverence as the stage show did, the Bible story of the Creation, Flood and Moses leading of the Chosen People to the Promised Land. The childish simplicity of the Negro fantasia has for many, including this reviewer, an inspiring and powerfully emotional appeal. And the Hall Johnson singers' spirituals add greatly to the production's charm.

Wednesday, Jane Withers will impressively amuse in "Little Miss Nobody."

Thursday, Charles Laughton and Charles Ruggles will delight in a callback of "Ruggles of Red Gap."

And Friday and Saturday, Jean Harlow is coming in "Suzy."

More Excellent Programs Offered at the Egyptian

Gertrude Michael plays a reformed international diamond thief in the fast-moving "Return of Sophie Lang" at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday. Her former associate is Sir Guy Standing, and a foreign newspaper correspondent is Ray Milland. The excellent program includes Major Bowes' Amateurs and Walt Disney's "Through the Mirror."

A change of booking brings in place of the previously advertised show next Monday and Tuesday the stars of "Idiot's Delight" in a return engagement of their one, only and sensationally successful film—Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt in "The Guardsman." And there's a marvelous surrounding program, including one of the year's funniest comedies.

Wednesday and (Bank Night) Thursday, Henry Fonda, George Barbier, Halliwell Hobbes, Mary Brian and June Brewster will provide romantic comedy in "Spendthrift," a story of a cashless ex-millionaire with a string of horses headed for the Kentucky Derby.

Ending the week Showman Conway will bring back for very good cause the "pixilated" film, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," starring Gary Cooper.

Ann Polk Speed to Become Lieutenant's Bride on 26th

The marriage of Miss Ann Polk Speed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Barrett Speed, of Chestnut avenue, to Lieutenant Alison Richard Hartman, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Hartman, of Tygh Valley, Georgia, will take place at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, September 26, in St. Paul's Chapel, Overbrook. The Rev. Joseph Casey will perform the ceremony.

Mrs. Joseph Missmer, of Devon, will be the matron of honor and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. John McClenahan, of Villanova, and Mrs. William L. McPherson, of Fort Monroe, Va.

Captain William L. McPherson will act as best man and the ushers will be Mr. Joseph Missmer and Mr. Hugh B. Speed, Jr., brother of the bride. Upon their return from a wedding trip Lieutenant Hartman and his bride will reside at Fort Monroe, Va.

That's My Story

A column by Tom Elwood, to appear as the spirit moves, with no particular recommendation for anyone but himself to read.

Main Line names at Welsh convention in Atlantic City—And a study in contrasts.

Last week-end in Atlantic City I was celebrating a literary windfall, and trying to forget the anniversary of my wedding, which ended last February and began on a September fourteenth. The resort intrigues me as a study in contrasts. My background there for 13 years was a strongly religious one. My uncle is pastor of the Boardwalk Church; my father has long been an elder in a Presbyterian church there. My brother at the time of his death had left to study for the ministry. My family is typically Philadelphian, with conservative ideas not only on religion, but also on politics and recreation—despite our residence of nearly a quarter of a century in "The Playground of the World." My friends there were of my type. I was president of a Christian Endeavor, secretary-treasurer of Sunday school and teacher of a class of boys, at twenty-one a deacon in the church, and meanwhile a singer, first soprano, then alto, then bass, in an Episcopal church. And, emphatically, there were others like me, and are today, in the resort's many churches.

—And this, mind you, in that sink of iniquity, that Sodom or perhaps Gomorrah, pictured occasionally during Vice Crusades by metropolitan papers intent on building their circulation.

This year, it strikes me, Atlantic City is permitting its many night clubs, gambling joints and other tax-paying enterprises to cater too freely to the less inhibited of big-city pleasure-lovers. I can think of little that Paris offers that Atlantic City does not. (Ask me about a queer convention that was held there not long ago.) But there have also been conventions of church bodies. The vast majority of the resort's amusements are wholesome, and there are more than can be found elsewhere by us Main Liners who (probably justifiably) prefer for our families such comparatively quiet resorts as Ocean City and Cape May. Atlantic City is still officially prudish to the extent of requiring men to wear stomach-covering bathing suits. (As for the women, many are beautiful.) Bathers are not permitted on the uptown boardwalk. I observed much drinking and no public drunkenness.

And what interested me last Sunday, in the municipally-owned Convention Hall, where on a previous visit I had seen the allegedly erotic film, "Ecstasy"—was a convention of the National Gymnast Gnu Association. The meeting I attended was strongly religious. The music was nicely done by the Welsh delegates, and also by a couple of thousand transients in the audience who evidently preferred the music to piers, movies, night clubs and the boardwalk. The vast organ played while that audience sang hymns whose tunes bore such Welsh place-names as Merioneth, Malvern, Radnor, Cymry, Bryn-this-and-that, and Pembroke and Montgomery. (But no Cynwyd,

SUPPLEE
announces an important
new safeguard for milk

ESTABLISHED in 1804, Supplee is one of the oldest milk companies in America. During its 132 years of dairy experience, Supplee has helped pioneer many of the scientific safeguards that surround the milk you drink.

Today, Supplee maintains the largest staff for milk-protection of any dairy in your community.

Where the average milk company is content with 35 milk safeguards from farm to city plant, Supplee insists upon 60. Twenty-five extra safety-steps so that you may never have one moment's worry about the purity of the milk you serve your family. And the delightful flavor of Supplee Milk is due to a full teacup of cream in every quart.

Now we offer you the additional advantage of the SEALTEST
SYSTEM OF LABORATORY

PROTECTION, and present Supplee
Sealtest Premier "A" Milk.

More than 100 leading dairy laboratories in various American cities have combined their resources and dairy experience in the Sealtest System.

Prominent dairy scientists share their findings in the fields of research and laboratory-control in the interest of finer, purer dairy products. Great master laboratories co-ordinate the careful work of the Sealtest technicians.

Supplee thus gains the benefit of new dairy discoveries — so that your family may have as pure and as flavorful a bottle of milk as it is possible to produce.

Accepted by

"Good Housekeeping"

Some Timely Thoughts

To the Editor:

The college text books on logic, in my day at least, always stressed the need for the definition of terms as indispensable requisites for clear thinking. But the concepts behind the words used change with the changing times and changing circumstances and re-definition often become necessary. This is especially true of the words that convey political concepts.

The tariff, a protection for infant industries; a subsidy for the industrialists—so it may have been. Today the tariff is a protection for the standard of living, the opportunity for employment for the American workingman. Remove the tariff and what would happen? An illustration is close at hand in the results of the competition of the cotton mills of the South with those of the North. Cheaper land, vicinage to the raw material; a lower cost of living and hence relatively lower wages, enable the Southern cotton mills to undersell the product of their Northern competitors.

As a result the Northern mill owner is faced with one of three choices: he may remove his mill to a more favorable locality—to the South, to Canada or even farther afield—he may liquidate the mill, he may lower wages. It has been established by analyses through governmental agencies that in normal times, under normal conditions, the profit in the selling price of most industrial products is so small a factor that any depression in the ratio the selling price bears to the principal factors of cost, material and labor, would disorganize the industry and soon throttle it. We have seen this in the effect of Southern competition on the Northern cotton mills. How widespread would be a similar effect on American industries if the American market were thrown open for competition with foreign industries?

Labor leaders in Geneva and in Washington are agreed upon one point—that it would be practically impossible to raise foreign wages to the American level, and the American workman will never accept anything like the foreign scale. How can he? The cotton weaver in Japan works for 21 cents a day; the cotton spinner for 24 cents.

National isolation is another term needing re-definition. Fortunate in our situation, we lived as a nation, secure and self-contained within the barriers of the separating seas. But the separating seas have become the way thither—the way here! Willy nilly, we are one of the Great Powers—we cannot forego our responsibilities—that way lies relinquishment of opportunity and frustration; we cannot evade them.

But the foreign policy which determines our action cannot be impetuous, spectacular, experimental. It must be an evolution guided by wisdom and caution. I know of but two measures ripe for consideration at this time—I use these words advisedly—the establishment between the United States and the British Empire of deep and abiding friendly relations. Upon these two great democratic nations rests a common responsibility to preserve the fruits of the civilization won in the slow evolution of the ages, through sacrifice and struggle and agonies. We may not concern ourselves with the restless ambitions for expansion, for shifting frontiers that disturb the Continent of Europe, though we are not unaffected by them, as recent events have shown. We have a concern, should these threaten a conflagration so great that civilization itself is threatened. I believe such a friendly understanding, such a recognition of a common responsibility would, though, go far toward the maintenance of the peace of the world.

The second measure is the advisability of making the diplomatic service a career, as the consular service now is. We have had outstanding men, giving splendid service, but the newer diplomacy needs more than that. It needs men trained through experience in a wide diversity of diplomatic contacts, during a career in which permanency is assured.

No graver questions have ever presented themselves to an incoming President than these that press for solution, for consideration now. To Governor Landon I look for leadership through the maze. He has shown himself to be honest, forthright, independent. I believe him to have also that characteristic of our greatest Presidents, a sense of his responsibility as the representative of the Nation as a whole, and not merely of a party, and a capacity for growth through the exercise of that responsibility.

Saturday's Game to Decide Series Between Narberth and Coatesville

vismen held in the ninth. And it was a walk issued by Pinch-pitcher Bill Reynolds with the bases saturated which put Narberth on the toboggan.

Two Thrillers

And picture what happened on Sunday. Like Saturday, Narberth spotted the enemy runs in the very first inning when they were sent home by a terrific homer. At Coatesville, Jack McInerney, center fielder, lifted one of Johnny Jackson's choice ones out of the park. It was very uncomfortable for the former Phillies' right hander inasmuch as the bases were loaded when McInerney set off the fuse. In Sunday's battle "Teeny" Lowery, Richards' center gardener, blasted one for the circuit off Al Herrmann when one man was on the lanes.

In both games Narberth went ahead again to hold a comfortable lead. While they failed to hold it in both, nevertheless they managed to pull through in the second, although the Coates came within an eyelash of tying up the score again in the Sunday game.

Johnny Brennan poled a four-bagger with one on at Coatesville and Tanny Ralston socked a double here which would have been a certain home run had it not entered the crowd and been shortened by the ground rules.

Harry Fox, the little guy who totes pigskins for Drexel's football eleven, was the big hero as far as Narberth was concerned and if we consider only the game Narberth won. Besides, singling home the deciding run in the eighth, Harry "rolled 'em in the Makers, of Narberth, has been dropped. Makers is still charged with being a hit-run follower in a collision in Gulph Mills.

Borough Connects

The boroughites began to connect solidly with the offerings of Chet Haupt in the sixth. They pushed over three runs and sent him on his way to the dugout. Jack Eachus double to left got the ultimate winners under way and Pitcher Herrmann was safe at first when Catcher Virgil Sasse muffed his tap in front of the plate. Mickey Gavin's bingle to right scored Eachus.

On an attempted "squeeze" with Tanny Ralston batting, Haupt threw a pitch out and Herrmann was caught between third and the plate. However, Ralston promptly doubled to the cover in right. Ralston scored on Burns' two-bagger to the street in left and that was the death knell for Mr. Haupt. "Pork" Smith, ace southpaw for the invaders, was sent in and managed to fan Walker to retire the side.

After Harry Ralston robbed Smith of a hit by making a shoestring catch of his short one in the seventh, Coatesville came on fast to tie the score again. Trailing in the ninth, Coatesville fans were standing and yelling like maniacs when Jack Beltz poked what looked like a sure homer to center.

But they didn't reckon with Fox, who was off with the crack of the bat. Running as fast as his short bow legs could carry him (and that is speedily, sub), Fox suddenly looked up, leaped and snared the ball. He went headlong, rolled over three times, but stuck up his hand to show umpires and some 5000 fans that he had held. Had that ball gone through Narberth might have been in a very tough spot indeed.

Ralston Sets Pace

Tanny Ralston led Narberth at bat in the second game. He connected for three doubles and a single in five at-bats. Bud Walker was the big gun for the borough club on Saturday with two triples and as many singles.

Narberth's main problem for tomorrow is the pitching. So far in this series it has been close to terrible. Jackson had little to offer in the first game and Reynolds, who was put in in a tough spot, lacked his usual control. Herrmann also had considerable trouble with his control in Sunday's game and there was a time when Manager Davis was considering the idea of yanking him.

Demonstration Today

Narberth's Cub Pack this Friday evening at 7:30 will hold a bonfire and demonstration on the Community Playground. William C. Clark, South Ardmore, cub commissioner of Montgomery, will conduct the events. If it rains, the affair will be held in the Legion Room of the Community Building. Parents are invited.

Bala-Cynwyd, Merion Plan Dance Program

Joint Meeting of Committees Outlines Schedule for Classes

ASSEMBLY OCTOBER 9-10

The Dancing Class Committees of the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd and of the Merion Tribute House held a joint meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the Merion Tribute House. The growth of Miss Lucille Stoddard's classes has made it necessary for her to expand and to work out a plan for the extension of her work in Merion. Invitations will be sent out next week with a complete schedule of specialty, ballroom dancing and assemblies.

The assembly will begin at the Merion Tribute House on Friday and Saturday evenings, October 9 and 10, when there will be a short period of instruction in the newer types of dancing for those who desire it. The music at all of the assemblies will be by an orchestra.

Children lacking preliminary training are not eligible for these.

The classes meeting at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd will begin on October 16 and October 17. These will be entirely an instruction group in ballroom dancing. The beginners' classes also start on October 16, and groups with one year's instruction on Saturday evening, October 17.

Mrs. S. Earle Haines is the chairman of the Merion group and Mrs. J. Medford Brown the co-chairman; Mrs. E. Harmon Friel of the Cynwyd group and assisting her are Mrs. Isaac Kershaw, Jr., chairman of the specialty dances, and Mrs. Thaddeus Montgomery, of the ballroom dancing.

Mrs. Haines and her committee entertained the Bala-Cynwyd group at a tea following the meeting. There were about fifty present.

Petition Signatures Sought for Wynnewood Mail Delivery

Three hundred more signatures, making a total of about 900, have been added to Wynnewood's petition for mail delivery. John V. Calhoun, chairman of the mail service committee of the Wynnewood Civic Association, announced that only a day or so remains for residents to sign the petitions, which are now available at the post office.

Other committee members are George F. B. Appel, T. Bayard Baldrige and W. Nelson West, 3d, who are working in co-operation with Miss Emma Eakins, Wynnewood postmaster, to obtain the postal delivery. The petition will go to the postal authorities in Washington by October 1.

A post office to receive mail delivery service must have receipts of $10,000 annually, serve a population of 2500. Wynnewood's receipts are over that figure. The Census Bureau estimates the community has 1573 residents; the township assessors' office places Wynnewood's population as well over 2500.

Six Join Rod and Gun

Members of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club at their first fall meeting in the Community Building, Narberth, Wednesday night, enjoyed an illustrated talk on Mexico by Dr. Joseph W. Vansant, Fox Chase veterinarian. Six new members were accepted into the club.
